Design & Documentation

Good irrigation systems begin with good documentation, detailed designs, practical approaches, and cost-effective solutions that are tailored to suit individual client's needs, not just off the shelf plans.

IDA takes pride in producing industry leading consulting design & drawing packages which achieve all these aspects.

Varying levels of design and documentation are offered from simple D&C briefing specifications and drawings, to master planning and full consultancy packages. IDA can provide the level of service the Client requires for their project.

Contract Administration

IDA can provide Contract Administration / site visits to check the installation meets requirements.

If the Client is not familiar with or experienced in visual recognition of irrigation components or wishes to ensure that all materials installed meet the specified standards, then IDA can assist. A fee can be provided for this service or an hourly rate quoted where required.
